About the Workshop:

A day long professional development workshop for Visual Art/Art and Craft teachers that help in understanding how visual arts can help to support learning goals.

To discover the art of engaging, inspiring and empowering through creative facilitation. This deeper level, intensive professional training is experiential throughout and gives you the confidence and skills to lead learning experiences that can change lives. This workshop would also help looking at ways to have meaningful, helpful conversations with young adults and ways to improve your own confidence and delivery skills as well as many other tools and ideas that will help you to become a lead facilitator for visual arts.

About The Facilitators:

Nisha Niar – Founder of Art sparks Foundation

Nisha Nair is the Founder & Director of ArtSparks Foundation. ArtSparks Foundation is an educational organization that supports the creative, cognitive, social, and emotional growth and development of children through the medium of art. It also provides professional development opportunities to various stakeholders, through schools and other partner organizations. Nisha has worked in the education sector in varied settings, from museums to intergovernmental organizations, schools to nonprofit institutions in the US and in South Asia, serving as teacher, education researcher, curriculum specialist, teacher trainer, and program director. Her work in education explores the role of the arts in developing the whole child, building more inclusive learning environments, and developing teacher capacity. She holds an M.A. in Art Education as well as an Ed.M. in International Educational Development from Columbia University.
